Result: Wraysbury won by 139 runs.

A youthful Hurley XI suffered a substantial defeat by 139 runs against Wraysbury in a rarely seen Sunday 2nd XI fixture. Commendable opening pair of George Crowe (2-20) and Noah Drew (0-9) kept things tight, further supported by Henry Drew (2-14) as runs proved hard to come by and wickets plentiful. A withering assault by Baktar (74), dispatching the ball to all parts changed the complexion of the game, along with the stoic Freeman (56) before a flurry of run outs and sharp catching restricted Wraysbury to 194 all out. IN response, Hurley suffered the early loss of Brittain (1) to a sharp off-cutter before Simoes (14) and Crowe (15) offered glimpses of a recovery. Stalwart Simoes was undone by a spitting leg spinning delivery from Iffy Wain. Sadly, the remaining batsmen came and went with minimal effect on the scoreboard, unable to adjust to the slow pitch. Hurley regressed to 55 all out in 19 overs before being able to reintroduce the younger batsmen to enjoy time in the middle.
